

More Than One

Written by Gavin Holligan 2014

V1

How many lives did our lowly freedom cost?
And how many crying mothers sons were sorely lost?
How many tears fell to the ground?
How many years were some held bound?

How many men had to walk a lane of shame?
How many of them had to play the losing game?
How many songs did they recite?
And how many wrongs did they make right?

CHORUS

Oh I say more than one
They were more than one
Though we know not some
They were many more than one
They were many more than one

V2

How many boys lying in an early grave?
And how many days did they lose, our lives to save?
How many soldiers kept the faith?
Stood on the front line strong and brave?
Oh.....
How many wars did they fight for our today?
How many scars did they suffer on the way?
How many battles had to be won?
How many heroes go unsung?

CHORUS

V3

How many endured all the torture and the pain?
So we could enjoy our liberties again..
Today is the day we should recognize
The great sacrifice and compromise

How many Kings should we pay our tributes to
And how many Queens should we raise our glasses to
How many people should we be thankful for?
And how many heroes should we cease to ignore?

CHORUS

Oh I say more than one
They were more than one
Though we know not some
They were many more than one
They were many more than one
They were many more than one
They were many more than one
